WASHINGTON LETTERS.

The Tariff Bill in the Senate—The Hawaiian Affair, Mr. Peckham's Nomination—The Tariff Loan.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5, 1894.—Republican Senators are met with a piece of democratic duplicity at the beginning of the consideration of the Cleveland tariff bill by the Senate Finance committee that is far from encouraging. Previous to the passing of the bill by the House, Senator Voorhees, chairman of the Finance committee, promised republican Senators that the committee would grant full hearings to industries affected by the bill. These promises are ignored and Mr. Voorhees says the committee will grant full hearings, but he is not to be taken at his word. It is perfectly true that the committee will receive the information which will be received from the circular letters sent out by the committee will be all that is needed. This is a mere subterfuge, and no one knows it better than Mr. Voorhees. It is perfectly true that the committee will receive the information which will be received from the circular letters sent out by the committee will be all that is needed. This is a mere subterfuge, and no one knows it better than Mr. Voorhees. It is perfectly true that the committee will receive the information which will be received from the circular letters sent out by the committee will be all that is needed. This is a mere subterfuge, and no one knows it better than Mr. Voorhees.

The most notable feature of the democratic side of the Hawaiian discussion in the House was the unblushing effrontery of Representative McCreary, of Ky., in standing up and gravely informing the House and the country that Mr. Cleveland had never decided upon the restoration of the queen. This is one of the results of cuckooism upon a man who has always been considered in spite of his intense partisanship fair minded and patriotic. When a man becomes the defender of Mr. Cleveland's policy he necessarily has to drop the role of patriotic statesman and assume that of a petting special pleader who endures to make a good case for his clients, regardless of law or facts. Such men are common enough in every community, but it is little short of a national calamity that so many of them should occupy the position of Congressmen. The only consolation is that the people have fully acquainted themselves with the facts in this case and cannot be bamboozled by misstatements or cuckoo resolutions.

Mr. Cleveland is doing more in his efforts to beat Senator Peckham than the contestation of Mr. Peckham to the Supreme Court vacancy to lower the dignity attached to the office of President of the U. S. than any other man has ever done, and the result appears to be contrary to his expectations. Some Senators who were at first disposed to vote for Peckham's confirmation have now voted to reject the nomination. There is another feature that is not considered creditable to Mr. C. The financial condition of the government is such that it would seem to demand the entire attention and best abilities of the President, but instead he is giving his entire time to conducting a personal fight, leaving the finances to get along as they may.

The patriotism of the republicans in Congress has never been more strikingly exemplified than by their conduct concerning the sale of $50,000,000 of bonds by Secretary Carlisle. They have maintained the credit of the government to taking advantage of the numerous opportunities given them by the administration and its indiscreet friends in Congress to make party capital. The only men who tried, and who are still trying to injure the credit of the government, are democrats and populists. The bonds will be forwarded to their purchasers this week and if the payments are all made in gold $58,000,000 will be added to the $55,000,000 of gold now in the Treasury.

The hardest fight that will be made upon any one section of the tariff bill will be that against the income tax. According to the latest poll 41 Senators, two less than a majority are against it, 37 for it and 4 in doubt. Of the six in doubt three are republicans and three are democrats. Mr. Cleveland who was for a long time opposed to this tax has now assumed a non-committal position towards it.

SPILLER ACADEMY.

HAMPTON, VA., Feb. 8, 94.—Thinking that it would not be out of place to let the friends of Education both in this and other States know just what is being done in educational work in this part of the country, I write the following, hoping that it will be of some interest to those who may read it. The Spiller Academy started its work about three years ago in a rented building in the town of Hampton, with the Rev. George Reed as Principal, assisted by Miss Hattie Smith. In 1892 the school was moved to North Hampton into a building secured through Rev. R. Spiller, with Miss Mary M. Boone, B. S., Lady-principal, assisted by the other teachers. The school had a very successful year, notwithstanding the many drawbacks such as all new enterprises meet.

Through, there has been a financial famine throughout the country the Lord has not allowed our work to be destroyed by it, but he has graciously blessed it. We began our work September 15, 1893, by faith alone, not one cent of money did we have in treasure, but up to the present we have managed to carry on our work successfully with Miss Mary M. Boone, B. S., Lady-principal, assisted by Misses Lillian V. Thompson, B. S., Neolus O. Bailey, and Mr. R. H. Fauntleroy, Instructor in vocal music.

We have an enrollment of seventy-two bright boys and girls. Notwithstanding the hardness of the times, this year has been our most prosperous and we are happy to mention some of the ways in which we have been blessed.

Received from the Literary Society of Richmond Theological Seminary and other friends of Richmond 89 books for our school library.

Prof. Hovey, A. B. presented us 25 books. Prof. Webster of the Normal College, N. Y., sent us 75 books, making a total of 189 books presented to our library.

Mrs. Dr. McDermott, of New York City, gave bedding to the amount of $60.00 and a pair of $10.00 for the Academy.

Mrs. Margaret Shepard of Boston, Mass., visited us on the 18th inst. and after she had listened to different recitations we assembled in the Academy Chapel where we were addressed by Mrs. Shepard, at the close of her remarks she presented to Spiller Academy $100.00. We know not how to thank our friends for their liberal gifts, yet we cannot imagine how much you have encouraged us and we shall ever be grateful to you.

Yours for the work, R. S.

THE HUB.

BOSTON, MASS., Feb. 5, '94. The funeral of Mr. John Phillips, a well-known resident of the West End took place from his late residence in Lindell place at noon last Sunday. St. Monica Home on Joy St. is unable to take in any more patients. A larger home is much needed in this district and should be fully twice the size of the present home. Why is it that the philanthropist do not turn their attention in that direction? Much has been said about the Old West Church in the past, why cannot the West End secure it as a public library? The purchase of this excellent site for a branch library would be a valuable addition to the general collection of this section of the city.

Zion Church Sunday School has elected its officers for 1894: Supt. Phillip J. Alston heads the list, followed by J. W. Powell, Asst. Supt. J. H. Alston, Sect'y, Mr. A. Skinner, Treas.; Mr. J. F. Dent, and others. The Newbury Social gave their Fourth Annual reception January 31st at Arcade Hall Park Square a pleasant time was heartily enjoyed by all who attended the grand march was led by Mr. Clarence Hopkins and Miss Miligan. The funeral of Henry Dixon, formerly of the Hotel Brunswick took place from the House for consumptives in Roxbury. Mr. Joseph May and Henry Braxton attended the services. The remains were interred at Mt. Hope cemetery. A subscription of $17.00 was raised at the Hotel to help defray the expenses.

FAILED TO BLACK HIS FACE.

A White Brute Assaults a White Lady—Burglary and A tempted Rape in the Chamber.

Constable George Tate, of New Kent, was in the city Saturday and Sunday to Pocahontas, where he went to arrest Beverly Crump, a young white man of New Kent, who is wanted there on a serious charge. Mr. Tate for some reason remained in the city Saturday and Sunday and did not leave for Pocahontas until Sunday night. The reason for this delay could not be learned. The constable, however, was armed with a warrant for the arrest of the prisoner, who was overhauled at Pocahontas after wandering around considerably.

Reports from New Kent indicate that much excitement prevailed in the neighborhood where the alleged offence was committed, and that violence at the hands of some of the citizens of the community is feared. According to the reports young Crump, who is the son of a well-known citizen in the county, attempted a criminal assault upon a young lady named Mrs. Moore, who is a school teacher about three miles from what is known as the Cross Roads, and about five miles from New Kent Courthouse.

The young lady is connected with prominent people in New Kent, and is held in high esteem by those who know her. A woman went to the young lady's assistance, and threatened to notify men in the neighborhood. Crump is said to have then gone into the house, to have broken open the lady's trunk, and to have taken therefrom some money and a check payable to Miss Moore's order. He attempted to get the check cashed at Tunstall's depot, but the storekeeper to whom he appealed refused to cash it, on the ground that it was not properly endorsed. Young Crump then went over to Hanover Courthouse whence he disappeared.

It was believed that he went to Baltimore, and is understood to have been offered by the friends of the young lady for his capture. He was finally caught at Pocahontas, as stated above, and the authorities of New Kent notified. It was reported that the authorities had appointed twelve men to go to every train that would likely bring in the officer and prisoner, by way of a bluff guard to prevent anything like violence. Constable Tate stated, while here, that he would carry the prisoner to New Kent Courthouse by way of Quantico instead of Lanexa, for safety, though the latter station is considerably nearer the point of destination.

In reply to a query from The Times the following telegram was received from Pocahontas, Va., last night: Beverly P. Crump, white, of New Kent county, was arrested here by Town Sergeant M. A. Smith for felony on a telegram from John Poe, Jr., chief of police of Richmond, and left here this morning, W. F. Woodward, sheriff of New Kent county, having him in charge.

ANOTHER WHITE MAN IN TROUBLE.

He Betrayed a Pittsburg Damsel—Married but Claimed to be Single—The Gate's Alar.

Detective Louis Adams arrived in the city for the purpose of taking W. C. Evans back to Pittsburg, where he is wanted on a very serious charge. As soon as the necessary papers arrive Evans will be immediately taken from the Second police station where he is confined.

When the accused was brought before Justice Crutcheff in the Police Court, Detective Adams asked for a continuance of the case, stating that he had not received his papers. The case was accordingly postponed until to-day.

Evans denied most positively the charge made against him, and says that the woman has simply endeavored to blackmail him. He acknowledges having met her in Pittsburg, and associated with her, but only in proper way.

The detective tells a very different story from Evans. He says that Evans, while stationed at the Pittsburg office of the Postal Company, became acquainted with Miss Rosa Crith, the young lady, and waited on her for some time. She became very much attached to her suitor, believing him to be an unmarried man.

Evans has been corresponding with Miss Crith since he has been in this city. He sent his letters to Baltimore, where they were forwarded to a friend of Miss Crith, who has been of the opinion all along that Evans has been in Baltimore.

In a recent epistle he is in Baltimore and at work, and makes reference to a physician, deploring that the work of a doctor had not averted her trouble.

Miss Crith's family are said to move in the best social circles. Her family and friends are much incensed against Evans.—Times.
